WEDDING.

LOEWEN-SUDERMAN

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Klein on Thursday morning last, October 18, at 11 o'clock, when Miss Tena Suderman was united in marriage with Mr. Mose Loewen, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. R. Loewen of Sunnyslope.

The bride, becomingly attired in blue kinkie crepe and carrying a bouquet of yellow and white carnations, entered the room to the strains of the Wedding March, played by Mr. Harry Gabel, and was attended by her sister, Miss Agnes Suderman as bridesmaid, also dressed in blue kinkie crepe and carrying a bouquet of red and white carnations. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Aaron Loewen. Rev. H. J. Wood performed the ceremony, and during the signing of the register Mrs. H. J. Wood sang, "I Love You Truly."

Following the ceremony Mrs. Otto Klein, mother of the bride, entertained the guests, about forty in number, at a light wedding luncheon, and after receiving the congratulations and best wishes of the many friends the happy pair left by car for Calgary where they spent a brief honeymoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Loewen will reside in Didsbury.

Knox United Church Choir Reorganizes

The choir was organized with about twenty members, which will include several newcomers.

It was arranged to hold choir practice on Wednesday evenings at 8.30, and a social evening will be spent each month at the homes of the various members.

It was decided to send a letter of cheer to Miss Jean Russell, who has been an active worker with the choir, and who was in the hospital at Calgary.

After the meeting a number of games were played and a delicious lunch served by the hostess, Mrs. Austin, closed a most enjoyable and profitable evening.

Riding Bicycles on Town Sidewalks

Citizens are again complaining about the riding of bicycles on the sidewalks in town.

The boys have been warned repeatedly, both through the press and otherwise, apparently with effect only for short periods.

It is now up to the authorities to take action against the offenders and see that this menace to pedestrians is put a stop to—permanently.

Is This Real Sport?

The international yacht race for the America Cup between the British challenger "Endeavour" and the United States defender "Rainbow" is the subject of innumerable newspaper and magazine articles reviewing the history of this famous Cup and setting forth facts and figures indicating the vast expenditure of money and effort on the part of the multi-millionaires who alone can afford to indulge in this sport. This yacht race is not a money-making venture on the part of those who engage in it; quite the reverse. No gate admission can be charged, and the spectacle is free to all those who can get within sight of it.

But the cost of building even one of these yachts and manning it during the trial races that the short race would cost over a million dollars, and with several boats involved, the actual total cost is staggering. Is it all worth while? Are such huge expenditures of money for such a purpose justified at any time, and particularly so at this time when millions of people in the two countries concerned are in need of the bare necessities of life? Are those who devote their wealth to such a purpose real sports, and are they making any actual contribution to the well-being of their fellow-men?

What is real sport? What is or should be, its aim and object? Real sport, if we understand it aright, should provide recreation from the everyday toils and worries of life, and it should, therefore, be engaged in, not by a select few, but by the masses. Secondly, its aim should be the development of the physical well-being of all who engage in it, coupled with the incultivation and development of those traits of character which recognize and meet upon a fair and equal basis a competitive challenge to the use of the game whatever it may be, acceptance of defeat with good grace and a smile, and of victory with a becoming modesty.

If this is a correct definition of real sport, then it should never become a mere money-making enterprise in any of its branches. As a matter of fact, when it develops into a money-making enterprise it ceases to be sport in its true sense and becomes a business with gate receipts and salaries the main objective, while all the principles underlying real sport are sacrificed to skill.

Unfortunately, much of the so-called sport of to-day has degenerated from the ideal of amusement to professionalism; from love of the game to love of the dollar that may be earned. It is no longer sport or recreation, but a cold, competitive business.

This has long been true of baseball in the United States. Tens of thousands of people pack the stands to watch eighteen highly trained experts "play" ball. They think of it as themselves, and for the "home team," although not one of the "players" may be a native son or even a resident of the home city, but imported men from anywhere simply because they have the knack to excel in a certain position on the baseball diamond. Such is the great national game of the United States; but it is not sport. It is nothing but a business highly organized to the nth degree to make money for the owners of the franchise and their high salaried ball-playing employees. Instead of the thousands of spectators being benefited physically or otherwise, the revenue is used; they ought to be actively participating during these leisure hours in some health giving recreation.

In its heyday, lacrosse, the old national game of Canada, was an amateur sport. Thousands of boys engaged in it for the love of the game and the exercise they obtained. Professionalism crept in, and Canada's national game died. Canada's great love of game, especially, is travelling the sports road, thanks to the thousands of spectators being lured physically and otherwise, the revenue is used; they ought to be actively participating during these leisure hours in some health giving recreation.

What and who are responsible for this deterioration? First, the money grabbing instinct of man. Secondly, universities and colleges to a considerable extent. Large universities pay extravagant salaries to several sports managers and trainers, not for the purpose of developing the physical well-being of all members of their student bodies, but to build up a championship crew or team in the varied departments of sport to carry the college colors to victory and thus advertise the university and commend the administration and ultimate enjoyment of youth from all over the country. It is no longer sport in its true sense, but a business proposition with such institutions.

With but few exceptions, people love sports. Practically every child likes to play games. It is a natural born instinct, and it has its place, and a big place, in the physical, mental and moral development of youth. But it is being perverted to gross material ends with the result that sport in its real sense is largely being lost in the larger centres of population, and we must go to the small towns, villages and rural communities to find games and sports events engaged in by the masses for the intrinsic love and joy of the game. Sport in its true sense and meaning should be strongly encouraged everywhere, but it is time a halt was called to professionalism in sport, and to its twin evil of making proficiency in any one branch of it the end-all of one's existence.

The number of sheep in New Zealand, 1934, shows a yield of 5,235,000, and as shown by the returns on April 1934, from 587,109 acres compared 20, 1934 was 25,550,770 an increase with 3,454,000 bushels from 434,000 of 860,000 compared with the corresponding date in 1933.

Prince Assisted Miners

Waived Royalties Until Mine On Estate Was Self-Supporting

The Prince of Wales went down a Somerset coal mine that came to life close to the spot where a coal mine had died.

There is a human story behind this "new coal field for an old one." The prince heard it from one of the doughty West of England colliers who conducted him round the mine.

Thirteen years ago a coal mine at Farrington Gurney closed down. Three hundred men were thrown out of work. They were idle and forced to go on the "dole".

Three years later, determined to make work for themselves, a small band of them applied to the Prince of Wales for a concession to dig close to the dead coal field. It lay in the prince's duchy estate.

The prince lent a sympathetic ear to the colliers' plea. He told the men the duchy would waive any royalties until the mine was self-supporting.

The men set to work. After deep excavating they struck coal. Every now and again the prince inquired how the mine was working.

Now the mine is paying for itself. Fifty men are in full-time employment; one hundred and thirty-five tons of household coal are raised every week and the Duchy of Cornwall is receiving its dues.

The prince received a royal welcome from the black-faced colliers. Then he disappeared half a mile under the ground for a quarter of an hour and watched the men dig for coal.

He respired, his hands black from the low corridors where he had bent almost double.

DOUBLED UP WITH RHEUMATISM

Could Not Wash Himself Nor Brush His Hair

So bad was his rheumatism that his friends declared he would never work again. Although he is 70 years old, he proved they were wrong.

Read what he says:—"I am seventy years of age. Last Christmas I was completely doubled up with rheumatism. I could not brush my hair nor wash myself. People said I should never work any more."

I am working harder than a young man to-day. Thanks, many thanks, to Kruschen Salt, I have recovered them in my leg, and I have recommended them to many. I could not get in or out of bed myself, nor sit up. But see me work now. 12 hours a day sometimes. Kruschen Salt has made it possible."

Rheumatic conditions are the result of an excess of uric acid in the body. Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salt has the power of dissolving uric acid crystals. Other ingredients assist Nature to expel these dissolved crystals through the natural channels. In addition, there are still other salts in Kruschen which prevent food fermentation in the intestines, and thereby check the further accumulation not only of uric acid, but of other body poisons which undermine the health.

Preparing For Trip

Duke Of Gloucester Studied Books On Australia

A tall, long-complexioned, well-talored young man in brown soft hat and brown shoes was exploring an Oxford-street book shop in a recent week.

He had found his way to a large collection of books, some old but most of them recent, dealing with every phase of life in the British Empire. From the way he went about the collection, with one of the assistants, studying maps and pictures of certain countries. It was clear that he was either a student or a traveller preparing to go on a long voyage or both. As a matter of fact he was both. It was the Duke of Gloucester. Evidently he was making a careful selection of books to prepare himself for the long journey to Australia.

Cook's Home Rebuilt In Australian Park

Even Ivy Taken To Melbourne With Explorer's Cottage

Packed in 253 boxes and transported by 35 horses, Captain Cook's cottage was taken through the streets of Melbourne, Australia, on its arrival by the steamer to the Fitzroy Gardens, where it is to be re-erected in connection with the centenary celebrations.

Everything about the Yorkshire cottage has been preserved with amazing thoroughness, even to the creak on the staircase, as one wit remarked. Stones for the walls, flagstones for the floor, joists, rafters and beams have all been marked and numbered.

A bag has been forwarded containing the original mortar which held brick and stone together, also a bag of nails which will not be much use for hammering in, but interesting as showing the type used.

The ivy alone will not be refixed in its original state. The quarantine authorities demand that it be fumigated, as a potential bearer of disease. In exchange for the cottage, Cook's birthplace, Great Ayton, Yorkshire, is to possess a stone altar modelled on the monument commemorating his discovery of Cape Horn.

Lignite Coal

Development Of Coal Field In Saskatchewan Carried On Successfully

Development of high moisture lignite deposits in southern Saskatchewan, which are located a considerable distance to the east of other fuel sources of Western Canada, has been carried on successfully throughout the depression years. R. L. Sutherland, consulting engineer for the Saskatchewan Coal Operation Association, told the western meeting of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy at Calgary.

"The increase in production in the Saskatchewan field and use in recent years when the general trend of production has been downward," he said, "has been due in part to economic conditions and in part to improved preparation at the mines."

The more densely populated sections of Saskatchewan and Manitoba, he said, offered a wide market for the southern Saskatchewan fuel.

To Study Socialism

B.C. Economic Council To Investigate Conditions In Other Countries

British Columbia's Economic Council, an investigatory and advisory body to the government, is studying conditions in countries where socialist parties are in control, with a view to seeing if practical application can be made of various plans to improve living standards and working conditions.

Hon. G. S. Pearson, minister of labor, to whom the council reports, said a special study is being made of conditions in Sweden, and that this would be followed by a review of working conditions and living standards in some other countries.

The work of the council would have to be recast, Mr. Pearson said, to bring its operations to their fullest utility. There was a misconception in the public mind as to the functions of the council, which was primarily for research with a view to recommending means toward economic improvement in the province. No quick results could be expected as a great deal of research would have to be undertaken.

Labor Saving Inventions Lead To Freedom From Soul Destroying Toil And Much Routine Work

If science is to be blamed for all the ills that have beset mankind in late years including soul-shattering war, then science will accept the blame, but it will retort, science has given man control of nature, he before he has gained control of himself.

Sir James Jeans, eminent physicist, stepped out of the field in which he is one of the world's foremost leaders, to speak on behalf of science at large, when he delivered the presidential address at the British association gathering in Aberdeen.

No doubt, said Sir James, a large part of economic depression and unemployment results from wars, national rivalries, tariff barriers, and other causes which had nothing to do with science. But a residue must be traced to scientific research, which produced labor-saving devices which in times of depression were only too likely to be welcomed as wage-saving devices, and to put men out of work.

Science gave rich gifts to the community: labor-saving inventions which displace labor, more fundamental discoveries which may ultimately lead to new trades and new popular demands providing employment for vast armies of labor. The former led to emancipation from soul-destroying toil and routine work, to greater leisure; the latter to the comfort and pleasure, health and wealth of the community.

"If a perfect balance could be maintained between the two, there would be employment for all, with a continual increase in the comfort and dignity of life," he declared.

"But troubles are bound to arise if the balance is not maintained, and a steady flow of labor-saving devices with no accompanying steady flow of new industries cannot but lead to unemployment and chaos in the field of labor."

"Unhappily, no amount of planning can arrange a perfect balance. For as the wind bloweth where it listeth, so no one can control the direction in which science will advance. The investigator in pure science does not know himself whether his researches will result in a labor-saving device or in a new industry."

Crop Testing Plan

To Try To Improve General Quality Of Wheat Grown In The West

During the past three years the Cereal Division of the Dominion Experimental Farms has been interesting itself in a scheme which is known as a "Crop Testing Plan." The main objective of this plan thus far has been to "step up" the general quality of the wheat in the Prairie Provinces by growing in small lots samples collected by elevator agents from farmers' wagons at country elevators with a view, first, to ascertaining the names of those farmers who were well advised to secure better seed stock, and second, to obtain for those farmers information as to the nearest points at which such stock may be obtained. In 1933 the wheat grown by over 5,000 farmers was checked according to this plan and it was found that over 40 per cent. of those farmers were growing grain which they should not use for seed. This testing plan is being extended on a comprehensive scale in the West this year and is being tried out in certain districts in the East.

Always Very Near

Happiness Can Be Found In World

True happiness can never be founded upon falsehood. The profits of lying are much over-estimated. It pays to be true. At least we shall be at peace with ourselves. Where is happiness? It is to be found in the world all about us in the stillness of a summer night, in the pride of a good thing done, in the flush of a summer dawn, the following of an ideal, the strong grip of a friend, the perfect heart of a rose, in the wild sweetness of a song. It is always very near. Dame Nellie Melba.

Trans-Atlantic Air Service

Canada Looking Forward To Possibilities Of New Airway

Canada is air-minded and ambitious to have an adequate air system of its own and looks even beyond the transatlantic system the new airway will inaugurate to a trans-Atlantic mail-carrying line. The first step will be a 3-4 day plane and steamship service from Montreal to London. The experience gained in such a service, it is believed, will lead in good time to a trans-Atlantic mail service along one of the three routes airmen think possible, the two shortest of which touch Canada—Philadelphia Bulletin.

B.C. District Claims To Be Wettest Spot In America

Reports of complained heat waves and droughts in eastern and central Canada are read by residents of the district of Henderson Lake, B.C., with a faint feeling of jealousy.

This is the wettest spot in British Columbia and one of the rainiest in the world.

This doubtful title has been held by Henderson Lake, on the west coast of Vancouver Island, just east of Ippositem Inlet off Barkley Sound for many years.

F. Napier Denison, superintendent of Gonzales meteorological observatory, just released another batch of statistics which explain to those who can read such things that about two-thirds of an inch of rain has fallen every day during the last 12 months.

The lake had a total precipitation of 266.26 inches, a little more than its 11-year average of 233.73 inches. The precipitation is made up of 233.73 inches of rain and 125.53 inches of snow, the latter working out to 12.5 inches of water.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

School Ahead! Pictures, Too!

Excitement is part of the picture at any football game. It's easily worth the missing of one play to get an over-the-shoulder shot like this!

ABOUT this time of year, school is in everybody's mind; not only students and teachers, but parents, nannies, and uncles.

And if there ever was a snapshotter's paradise, it's school. It may be a one-room school or it may be a great university. Wherever, whatever it may be, it's swarmed with unbeatable picture possibilities.

Yet we might as well face the silly fact of the matter—few snapshotters make the most of a school's snapshotting opportunities.

Perhaps they are dazzled by the very wealth of the material at hand. More likely, they assume that somebody else is going to take the pictures. And that's a fatal mistake. For nobody else can see things as you see them, and it's when you see that means most to you—and to the folks at home now or years from now.

The question, then, is how to make the most of school's picture possibilities. A little planning will do the trick.

First, about the right camera for school. Any camera will do, providing it is clean and in good order and uses a size of film that is easily available anywhere. If yours has a fast lens and a fast shutter, you'll have an advantage in taking shots of sporting events, but such a camera is not at all essential. With a little care you can make even the simplest box camera turn out entirely satisfactory pictures.

Then, how can snapshotting be planned? All of it, of course, cannot be planned, but many of the most important shots can be. Why not work out a scenario, Hollywood fashion?

First of all, whether school's just around the corner or a thousand miles away, you'll want a few good shots of home. Then a view or two taken on the way to school. Maybe those views seem commonplace now, but wait a few years!

At school, of course, there are the obvious shots of the buildings, the grounds, new classmates, teachers, old friends, sports, parties, class ceremonies, and so on. It's a good idea to take them so as to form a kind of continued story. Then, when they are mounted in your album, the pictorial story will flow along evenly.

It's easy to plan ahead for the kind of pictures mentioned above, but don't forget the spontaneous things.

For example, if there's an exciting football game, try the trick of shooting blindly back over your shoulder into the crowd at an exciting moment. People won't notice the camera and the chances are that you'll get some amusing facial expressions.

And in less exciting moments it is still a good idea to avoid "posed" pictures as much as possible. People standing up in a stiff line, facing directly at the camera, simply don't look comfortable, that's all. Catch them at leisure moments, as they perch on the school steps or linger on the lawn.

A really good collection of school pictures is hard to find, as any school yearbook editor will tell you. Yet there's nothing much easier to take, and few snapshots increase in value, year after year, as surely as those taken at school.

JOHN VAN GUILDER

To Canada for ten pounds or $50

—is one of the aims of the British committee which has been driving into the question of emigration again.

The committee further recommended extension to include the rail rates in three areas mainly:

$10 to Montreal and east of Montreal; $12 to Winnipeg and east of Winnipeg; $11 to west of Winnipeg.

The present full ocean rate to Quebec is 117 and five shillings.

The committee proposed the cost of the reduced rate should be equitably shared between the United Kingdom and the Dominion governments, and, or, any private organization concerned.

In no case should the United Kingdom's share exceed 50 per cent, it was added.

The report generally looked forward with hope to the time when empire migration can resume its normal course, but it frankly recognized that with the present situation and the prices for agricultural produce obtaining, land settlement for the time being on any large scale is out of the question.

Migrants if they are to live must be able to sell what they produce in order to buy what they need. "The condition of the market for most agricultural commodities at the moment is, however, such that even a comparatively slight additional production might well depress the level of prices below even the present remunerative point, and thereby bring disaster to a far larger number of persons than the settlers themselves," said the report. "For these reasons we should regard the encouragement of any considerable scheme of migration at the present time as out of the question."

The report commented "it would appear to follow that the United Kingdom government can give no greater or more direct stimulus to emigration than by assisting to create increased markets in this country or elsewhere for the Dominion produce, thereby breaking the vicious circle whereby low returns to the producer and the low purchasing power of this country result from and are caused by one another."

Under the best conditions, the report held, group settlement could not account for more than 10,000 settlers a year at a cost of $1,000 per settler, whereas settlement by "infiltration" had in the past accounted for 150,000 to 200,000 yearly at a cost of $75 per person. The committee thus generally found against the group system.

On deportation, the report observed: "The migrant should, in our opinion be liable to deportation only within a period, say three years, after his arrival, and within that period deportation should only take place where the settler becomes a public charge for reasons personal to himself, not for reasons applicable to the whole community in which he settled."

"As regards persons who become public charges from physical causes, we would suggest that where such causes arise from accident or illness contracted after arrival, deportation should in no case take place except at the request of the person concerned."

Every endeavor should be made to arrange with the Dominion government to extend the nomination system to cover all classes of emigrants proceeding to Canada, the report said. The "boarding-out" system for children should be resumed under desired safeguards.

Workers Could End War

Refusal of the workers to obey the call of the war lords of any country is the only way to frustrate war, John Macmillan, of London, England, told the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada at their convention at Toronto. All wars are capitalist wars, he said, and whether it is the country of the victor or the vanquished the workers suffer on every occasion.

Have You Registered On the Voters' List?

OCTOBER 31 is the LAST DAY for tenants and relatives to register on the Town and School District Voters' List, and anyone who has neglected to do so will not be entitled to vote at any Town or School Election during 1935.

We again draw attention to the fact that owing to the 1934 amendment to the School Act, the qualification of Elector has been changed in order that tenants of lands situated within the town school district, but outside the town limits, and also relatives of ratepayers in the school district outside the town limits, may vote, they must register at the Town Secretary-Treasurer's Office before the end of October.

The official notice is as follows:

Notice to Relatives of Persons On the Assessment Roll And to Tenants

Notice is hereby given that during the months of September and October applications may be made under the provisions of sections 188 of the

The wife, husband, father and mother, and every son and daughter of any person whose name appears upon the assessment roll are entitled to be placed upon the said list—

(a) if he or she is resident with the said person within the town or assists him in business in respect of which he is taxable; and

(b) if he or she is of the full age of twenty-one years; and

(c) if his or her name does not already appear on the roll.

McFarland Will

Retire Shortly

John I. McFarland, the general manager of the central selling agency of the Canadian wheat pools, told a private gathering of delegates to the annual meeting of the Manitoba Wheat Pool that he expected he would retire from his post in about a year.

Taking an optimistic viewpoint of world marketing problems, Mr.
McFarland said his "job" should be over in a year, and that he would then be able to turn complete pool management over to the elected pool representatives.

The wheat surplus was fast disappearing, and the glut on the market was being eliminated, he said, in spite of the operations of Argentina, "the bad boy of the London wheat agreement." Once this big problem is over, he said, he could see no reason for remaining with the pool.

To Distribute Trees Again.

More than 100,000 white spruce trees and some 8,400 green ash will be available for distribution next spring from the provincial nurseries at Oliver, it is announced from the forestry branch of the department of lands and mines. These trees will be distributed on the usual plan adopted two years ago, to farmers who have wood lots, or to schools, community centres, etc. Last year some 34,000 trees of various kinds were distributed from the nurseries to 228 different sources which included 183 farmers, 18 schools, 13 institutions and 14 municipalities for community purposes.

Gravelling Contracts

Some 17 of the 28 gravel-surfacing contracts awarded by the provincial public works department on the main highway systems this past summer have been completed, and others are rapidly nearing completion, according to the most recent compilation issued by the department. These contracts cover portions of main highway in many parts of the province, and in addition to providing for 1st-course gravelling on 5 sections, also provide for 2nd-course gravelling on 17 sections and replacement on 6 sections.
Some 140 miles are added to the gravelled system of the province by the 1st-course contracts.

Doings Of Our Neighbors.

At Olds: Indications are that the Olds Hockey Club will again join the Big Four League, Stettler, Lacombe and Red Deer being the other members of the League.

Mr. S. W. Miller of Hanna is taking over the International agency at Olds. Mr. Miller was interested in sporting circles at Hanna, and the Olds hockey boys will welcome another active supporter.

At Bowden: Mr. Charles Richardson of Willow Park Farm, one mile west of Bowden, had quite a loss recently by fire when his implements shed and garage were completely destroyed. In the building were his Chrysler car, a new drill, mower, all sorts of tools, doubletrees, etc. Mr. Richardson and son Harold were draining the gas tank and some splashed on the lantern and exploded, and in a short time everything was on fire.

At Innisfail: The sec.-treasurer of the town reports that 70 per cent. of the taxes had been paid up to October 15, and as a result the council can carry on for the balance of the year without borrowing.

At Carstairs: Meetings are being held with a view to organizing and busking the rural telephone lines both east and west of the town.

The district was saddened by the death of Lillian Isobel Foster, wife of Wellington Foster, who died in the Calgary hospital on Friday, October 12, aged 29 years. The deceased was born in Carstairs and lived there all her life. Besides her husband she leaves two small daughters, Rosalie, seven months, and Colleen five.

Caragana Seed Sent Free on Application to Lacombe Dominion Experimental Stn.

The last few dry, windy years have convinced farmers in Central Alberta of the necessity of growing shelter-belts for the protection of their homes and, in some cases, to keep their farms at home. There are several varieties of trees and shrubs suitable for this purpose, but the most satisfactory of all is caragana.

Owing to its extreme hardiness, density of growth, and ability to withstand long periods of drought, caragana is admirably suited for the purpose of forming windbreaks for crop protection. When left to grow naturally it will attain a height of from 15 to 18 feet. As a hedge one foot high will protect a field from the wind for 50 feet, a 15-ft. hedge will protect a 700 to 800-ft. strip of crop. A shelter-belt is also a necessity for the growing of a good pot garden.

A great many farmers who would like to plant hedges have not done so because of the expense involved. In order that all who desire to plant windbreaks may do so without encountering financial difficulties the Dominion Experimental Station at Lacombe will supply applicants with instructions for growing and any reasonable amount of seed, from two pounds up, on receipt of the request accompanied by stamps to cover postage or express charges. Two pounds of seed require 15c postage, and will seed approximately 3,000 feet of drill. Carrying charges on larger amounts of seed may be ascertained at the local post or express office. The length in feet of the desired hedge, divided by 1,500 will give the number of pounds of seed required.

Revision of 1934 Wheat Figures.

The Dominion bureau of statistics has issued a revision of its estimate of the Alberta wheat crop for 1933, following the close of the marketing season ending July 31 last. The first estimate was placed at 94,500,000 bushels, but the new revision, based on marketing totals is placed at 101,500,000 bushels.

A Good Practice.

When packing eggs for shipment a good practice is to brush the hand lightly over each filler as it is packed, to make sure that no eggs are protruding above the top of the filler. Such eggs almost invariably will break in transit. Before packing a case examine the bottom and sides. If any nails are loose or have fallen out replace them.—Egg and Poultry Market Review.

New Dairy Official.

Announcement is made of the appointment of W. C. Cameron, B.S.A., Calgary, to the position of chief inspector and instructor on the staff of the provincial dairy branch under Dairy Commissioner J. R. Sweeney. Mr. Cameron, at present secretary of the Alberta Buttermakers' Association, has had a long experience in dairy work. He is a graduate of the University of British Columbia, and has been engaged in government grading work in Saskatchewan and Alberta for some time. More recently he was superintendent of branches for the Calgary Central Creameries.

Little Journeys In Science

GOLD FROM THE SEA

(By Gordon H. Guest, M.A.)

Science has shown that there is gold in the sea, but the authorities on this subject are in dispute as to the quantity. Figures given indicate that there are about 700 ounces of the precious metal for each of the two billion inhabitants of the earth, which would amount to $24,500 per person. If gold is valued at $35 per ounce.

Is it any wonder then, that ever since chemistry became an exact science, plans have been proposed to mine this wealth from the sea? One famous scientist lived by the idea was the late Dr. Fritz Haber, who was awarded the Nobel prize for his method of producing ammonia gas from the air. He found such small amounts in sea water that he concluded the idea was impractical. In his opinion there is more gold in the living organisms of the sea than there is in the sea water.

Recent developments seem to indicate that the chemist of the next decade may be able to extract gold from sea water commercially. This is based upon the fact that a plant has been built in the United States for the extraction of bromine from the ocean.

Bromine is used in the production of ethyl gasoline and hence is in great demand. A few years ago chemists turned to sea water for bromine, even though it contained only seventy parts of bromine in a million of water. Very large quantities of water must be treated—2,000 gallons to obtain a pound of bromine.

It is easy to see why scientists talk so confidently of securing gold from sea water. Bromine is only twenty cents a pound whereas gold is valued at about $35 an ounce. Thus in spite of the fact that there is much less gold than bromine in sea water, science is hopeful of mining gold on a commercial scale from the ocean. It has been estimated that the gold content of sea water is about $25,000,000 a cubic mile.

WHAT DOES YOUR HANDWRITING SHOW?

By LAWRENCE HIBBERT

(Graphic Analyst)

(By Edgar Knowlton)

The increased interest in Graphic Analysis, the science of character collection from handwriting, has brought it to the front not only a host of converts, but the inevitable critics.

One of the most frequent objections is posed by those who ask: "How can handwriting show one's character, when we are taught how to write from the same copybook in school?"

The answer to this objection only proves how strongly handwriting has some character. Because if you will study the writing of a single class of students who have learned writing from the same copybook, a year afterwards, you will not find two who write alike.

Each one writes differently, a different slant, a different pressure, and different conformations of letters. This shows that, as one grows, one's character changes or strengthens, and one's handwriting changes too.

And, whilst I am discussing objections, I would like to stress that it is not possible to tell a person's age or sex from handwriting. Here and there, a trained graphologist will be able to hazard a guess. There is no scientific foundation for it, however, and consequently, no reputable graphologist will attempt it.

I have seen women's writing that looked masculine, and, conversely I have examined the writing of men that looked for all the world like that of a woman. Then again, some young people write a mature hand, and on the other hand, I have seen the writing of a man of 50 which seemed to be that of a youth in his teens. We can only get from handwriting what is in it.

There is increasing evidence that faint ailments can be discovered from handwriting. People suffering from heart trouble reflect this condition in their writing.

But graphologists have not yet attained the point where it is possible to analyse ailments from handwriting with extremely scientific accuracy.

There are factors that time and continued research will attain, but character analysis from handwriting is an accomplished fact. And it is so true that vocational guidance can be given by trained graphologists.

If you want to discover your own characteristics and traits, as revealed by your handwriting, take ad-

D. N. You are ruled by your heart's impulses; emotional appeals will always draw your sympathy. You are inclined to get hysterical. There is evidence of good powers of concentration. If you get really interested in anything, you find no difficulty in excluding all your powers on it. You like to move around; to change environment. You are not content to remain passive in a routine way.

F. D. You have considerable depth of feeling and a desire to get on in the world. There is a sense of balance displayed. You do not talk too much. You are inclined to be critical; you do not make friends indiscriminately. Mechanical or engineering work is indicated. There are, of course, many fairly exact extracts from analysis.

"How do you make your living?" "Selling things to men who go fishing." "That's interesting. How is the fisherman's equipment business?" "I don't know. You see, I run a fish market."

To Safeguard Pedestrians

Because To Be Erected In London Streets For This Proposal

"Belisha beacons" will be erected for protection of London pedestrians. Another feature of the war on motor accidents. They get their name from Leslie Hore-Belisha, minister of transport, who presided at a conference when it was decided to introduce them.

These are posts seven feet high with a yellow-painted glass globe unlighted at the top. They will be put at the crossing-places for pedestrians. In the dark they will reflect headlights a quarter of a mile away.

AIR-CELL BRINGS AN ENTIRELY NEW THRILL IN RADIO

"Used the top half game this afternoon. I was in a bit of a lull. Now, we have electric wiring in our house, and our new Air-Cell radio sounds every bit as good as my cousin's electric set down in the city."

"I used to get into town every time our storage battery ran down. This new radio uses an Air-Cell battery that never needs recharging. I don't mind staying home, though, because our Air-Cell set brings in programs we never heard clearly before."

"That new Air-Cell radio is a wonder, but convenience. Our old storage battery was always giving trouble, and half the time we couldn't get the music loud enough. This new set has such an even current that you can hear perfectly all the time."

EVEREADY RADIO BATTERIES

The invention of the EVEREADY Air-Cell "A" Battery has made possible this entirely different battery powered radio that gives the glorious full tone hitherto only heard in electric sets.

The EVEREADY Air-Cell "A" Battery lasts for at least 1000 hours, which at 3 hours a day is almost a year's service in the average household, and so does away entirely with the excessive expense and loss of time due to frequent recharging.

Used in conjunction with EVEREADY "B" Batteries, Air-Cell radios, made by the leading radio set manufacturers, will perform with all the simplicity and reliability of any electric set.

Livestock Scheme To Be Laid Before Alberta Producers

A tentative plan drawn up by the provisional livestock marketing committee for marketing livestock in Alberta under the provisions of the new Federal Act, will be laid before a mass meeting of producers, to be called soon, to receive their approval before it is submitted to Ottawa for ratification, it was announced last Friday.

This decision was reported by E. W. Branson, secretary of the committee, which completed its two-day organization session in the parliament building, Edmonton, late Thursday.

Principles of the Livestock Marketing Act were approved by the committee in relation to Alberta's livestock, it was announced, and appreciation of the work of the Hon. F. S. Giesbrecht, minister of agriculture, was expressed.

Farmers Are Warned re Poultry Shipments

During the Christmas season complaints are received by the police from farmers who, in response to press advertising, mail circulars, etc., have forwarded consignments of turkeys and other poultry to firms in various large cities in Canada.

Usually exceptional prices and attractive inducements are offered, but the ultimate result is that the farmer receives practically nothing in return.

New firms arise and others have a change of name each year for this seasonal trade, thus creating a problem for enforcement bodies with which to cope.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police are asking the press to scrutinize advertisements of this nature, but the former should use discretion before shipping to any firm he does not know.

RUGBY NOTES

The pre-school clinic held under the auspices of the Rugby W.L. was an unqualified success. Thirty-nine children were examined at the clinic, in charge of Dr. Cody of Calgary, ably assisted by Miss Parrott, general matron of Didsbury General Hospital. Dr. J. L. Clark was also in attendance. Had a stranger peeped thro' the window he would have witnessed a very busy scene; youngsters in all stages of dress, and undress, some smiling, and some crying, awaiting their turn to be weighed, measured and passed on to the doctor's room. From east and west, from north and south they came—in wagons, buggies, cabs, and all parents surely felt deeply grateful to Dr. Cody and his assistants for so generously giving their time and advice free. Most hearty thanks are also due Mrs. A. Wahl for her great kindness in throwing open her whole house for the occasion. There will certainly be an extra gold star in their crowns for their generous service to the little ones of the community. Contributed.
